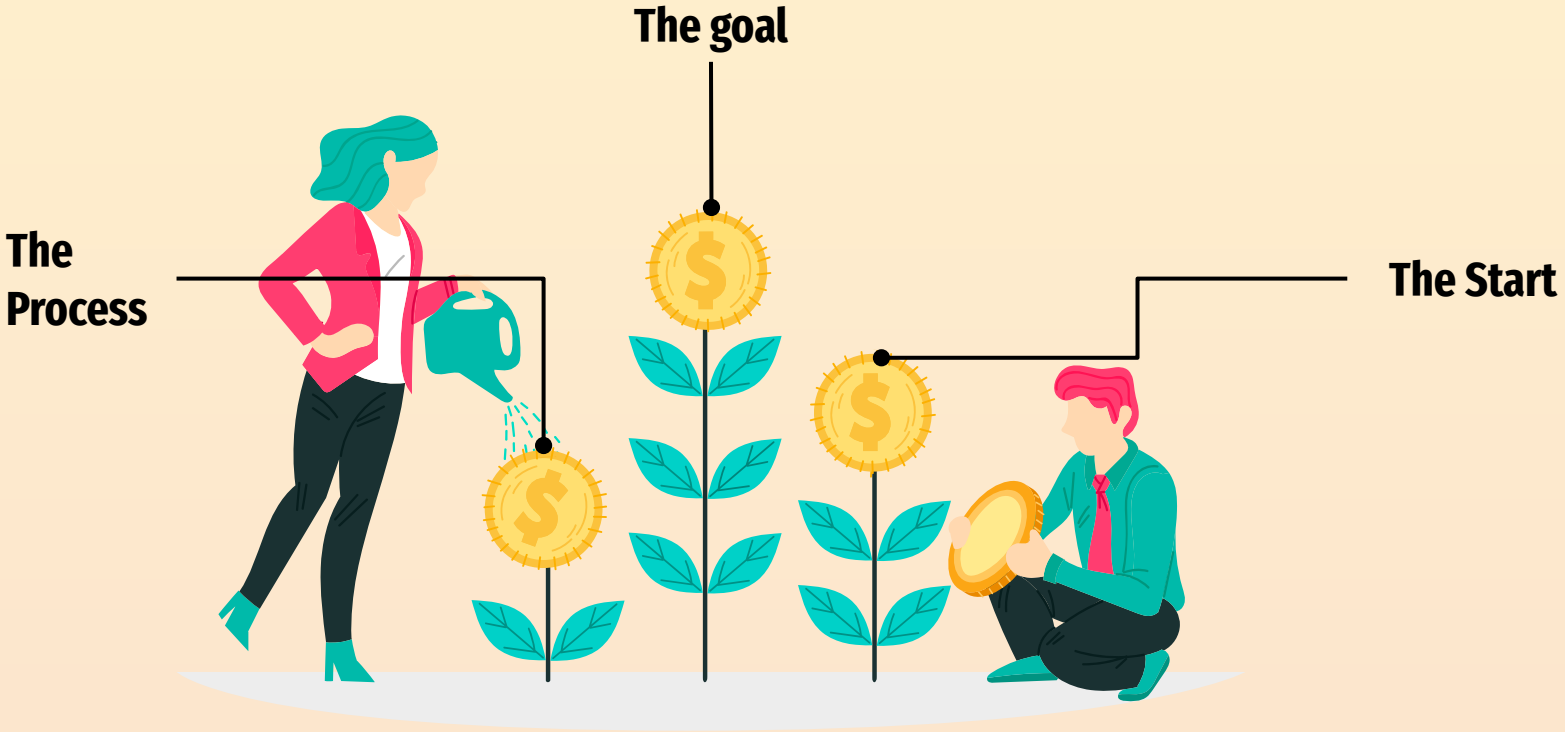
What is “Saving” and why should we do it?

What would you do if I gave you 100 dollars?

The Process of saving



Saving up

You get your first job scooping ice cream and want to save up for the lofty goal of a Nintendo Switch

The Switch cost 300 Dollars

At your job you make a great wage of 15 dollars an hour.

How many hours will you have work to get to that 300 dollars?

But then something comes and entices you!

You could buy a HUGE bag of candy for 30 dollars but all of your hard earned cash would go to it and back to ZERO.

What would you guys do?

The bag of candy would make you happy for a week

But

The Switch would make you happy for two years

After working 20 hours you get your switch

How do you think you would feel?

LET'S PLAY A GAME

HOW TO PLAY

You will get a pile of popsicle sticks

And try to build the biggest pile you possibly can

Every half inch you are able to build you will get a button

The buttons you can then use to buy things

PRICES

Five buttons- you can get one chocolate kisses

Ten buttons- you can two get chocolate hershey mini's

Twenty buttons - You can get a middle prize

Thirty buttons - You can get a large prize